Χ

- 7. Spring/summer classes update, Accreditation & Assessment updat@hris Johnson)
 - x The in-house deadline to upload the Summer 2020 class schedule is Jarluamyd24 February 2nd for the Fall 2020 class schedule. This gives CCB time to work out any problems, especially with the computer labs, before the official deadline of February 7 and March 13, respectively. Dawn mentioned that faculty beauthole to use computer labs in other buildings. However, some faculty said there can be issues with the outside labs (e.g., softwareetc.) There was a brief discussion about requiring graduate students to have a laptop.

New Business

- 1. Minimum enrollment for online classes(Mark Dawkins)
 - x Mark indicated there is variability across CCB departments with respect to the minimum enrollment for online classes and he suggested 43 to 50 students. For purposes of consistency, it was decided to set the minimum number at 43 students unless there is a pedagogical rationale for a lower minimum.
- 2. Maintenance of courses and communication to students regarding cours(dsnnifer Jackson).
 - x Jennifer asked the going forward department chains aft communications to students instead of relying solely on advising to draft announcements (argcellation bclasses etc.)

graduate programs have good admit numbers for the spring given the ongoing DOE audit issues and the graduate business analytics certificate has 7 stublemets.mentioned Regency Centers is interested in UNF's graduate programs.

7. Overloads – Department chairs noist justify splitting sections if it creates a faculty overload.
